COD BLESS MASSACHUSETTS The loyal millions of the country who have looked to Massachusetts, and not in valn, for an example of devotion in these perilous times, will read with pride and pleasure the message of Gov. Andrew to the Legislature of the old Commonwealth, a liberal portion of which is covered in our telegraphic dispatches. Gov. Andrew says the sons of Massachusetts have gone to the field—"with both hands pledged to the solemn task of war, and with neither "hand averted to uphold the institution "hand averted to uphold the institution "which is the cause of all this wee." He ndds, too, significantly, that when this war is over, there will be none to recommend a reconstruction leaving out New England. They will take good care, as Ben Butler once said, that the South is punished into the serve heat of felendship.

The Wagon Shop of the State Peni We learn that last night a fire broke out in the extensive wagon shop of the State Peni-tentiary at Jolict, which was entirely destroyed with its contents. The structure was a subchinery and tools of the best description, was a large quantity of finished work, sleighs, buggies and wagons, and in the harness shop adjoining were fifty-five sets of harness bolonging to the Government, valued at $3,000$. The loss of the building belongs to the State—that of tools and stock to Messrs. Sanger & Casey, prison contractors. French Crudities—Assignate.
In 1790 the French Assembly pledged the public lands (just as the Independent and unde by law a legal payment for all debts They were called assignats. In the spring of 1790 they issued $80,000,000; in September of the same year $100,000,000. In June, 1790, they were depreciated in price, and in June 1761, were at a discount of oue-third. In Sep-tember, 1792, the issues were $610,000,000. In June, 1792, the price had fallen to one-third, and in August to one-sixth of the par. In January, 1796, the amount in circulation was $10,000,000,000. Even after this date they issued $500,000,000 more of what were termed "territorial man-dates," which were to be exchangeable direct-ly for land, at the option of the holder, on demand. The assignats finally fell to one-thou-sandth part of their par price. Specie had disappeared entirely from sight in France, and so continued until the assignats were swept away from use.

When the assignats were sholl-shed, immense hoards of specie made their appearance from hiding-places, and money became plentiful, and trade brisk and prosperous. During the whole of Napoleon's wars the specie standard of the currency was always maintained.

The war expenses foot up nearly $3,385,000; to offset this the State has been reimbursed by Government. $775,000, and by other sums, making the aggregate refunded nearly $1,000,000. The troops sent into the field, both for three months and three years, with the exception of one battery, have been fully armed and equipped by the State.

The Governor recommends the State to assume the collection of the direct National tax of $834,581, being its proportion of the $20,000,000 authorized by Congress.

The State has contributed five regiments of infantry, one battery of artillery, and one battalion of rifles, of her militia, to the three months service; and to the three years service she has sent as wolunteers, 24 regiments of infantry, one of carabys, 5 batterless of artillery, 2 companies of sharp shooters, and an infantry battalion of 5 companies. Six companies more are attached to two regiments from New York.

The Cotton Question.

It is not generally understood, perhaps, that the present cotton stock of England, after all the fass, is larger than ever before at this season of the year. To-day, cotton is not half the price in Liverpool that it bears in our own markets. December 6, 1880, the stock in Liverpool was 579,630 bales—Dec. 8, 1881, 600,810 bales. There was a deficiency of nearly 200,000 bales of American, but a large increase of India cotton. In eleven months of 1861 the English imports of India cotton have increased 85 per cent. and in the last five months of the cleven, 160 per cent. Should the importations for 1863 be sustained at this rate, the India receipts stone would be 1,250,000 bales, to say nothing of increased receipts from Engryt, Braull, &c., which have usually given 200,000 bales. a determination any where to insist upon vigorous measures—if men who are tired and sick of the domineering withering in-fluences of the accuracd institution propose to lay the axe at the root of the evil and to be use at a stroke, by destroying that which has caused it, the "French Revolu-tion" is trutted out before us, and some sensible men are assured with vehemen carnestness that the confiscation and eman-cipation of a rebel's negroes will be the signal for the erection of a guillotine in every town and city of the North. Now this may be so, but we fall to see the con-nection. We affirm, too, that the French Frenching deployable as were many of the

was to command on the march, started in the afternoon, and your correspondent rode with him. The weather was perfectly delicious, warm and sunny as May, and filled with the languor of the Indian Summer. We reached Camp Sweyer, at Wyandotte, early in the evening. Information was received of the presence of parties recruiting for Price's army in Jackson county. Col. Anthony determined therefore to detach companies A, B, F, and "G," of the lat carairy with the light twelve pound howlizer, and Capt. Burchard's company of scouts, to, investigate into the twelve pound howitzer, and Capt. Burchard's company of scouts, to, investigate into the matter. They were ordered to be ready to march before day with one day's rations and without tents and baggage wagons. The balance of the command, consisting of six companies of cavalry, three of infantry and two rifled cannon, were placed under command of Capt. Merryman and ordered to move down the State line by way of the Fort Scott military road, till they reached West Point, throwitary road, till they reached the through the throwitary road, till they reached they are they reached they are the younger one, "its no use denying on principles, for, I reckon, wvery one knows of the younger one, "its no use denying on principles, for, I reckon, wvery one knows of the younger one, "its no use denying on principles, for, I reckon, wvery one knows of the younger one, "its no use denying on principles, for, I reckon, wvery one knows of the younger one, "its no use denying on principles, for, I reckon, wvery one knows of the younger one, "its no use denying on principles, for, I reckon, wvery one knows of the younger one, "its no use denying on principles, for, I reckon, wvery one knows of the younger one, "its no use denying on principles, for, I reckon, wvery one knows of the younger one, "its no use denying on principles, for, I reckon, on use of the younger one, "its no use denying on principles, for, I reckon, on use denying on principles, for, I reckon, on use of the youn sers, and the other a mane saddle. By order of the Colonet all the horses found on the premises were taken. Some revolver moulds and equipments were found in the house, but no weapons. Mrs. Reiss, after considerable prevarication, acknowledged that one of her sons had been home that morning. Next morning the negroes wire brought into town. On Wednesday Companies "A" and "8," Capts. Uit and Thornton, under command of Adjutant Snoddy, started at sunrise after the stock previously spoken of. They returned by sundown, bringing in 75 mules and 40 or 30 horses, some of which were very valuable. They also brought in one hundred contrabands, with eight wagons, ten yoke of oxen, twenty horses and mules 35s a quantity of personal property. Both the negroes and stock were found hidden in the brush, and guarded by a party of some fifty rebels. Company 8 had a brush with those latter, firing a few rounds and killing one man. A small party was pursued by company A, but they managed to except without hurt. That evening the Black Squadron which left for Kansas numbered at least one hundred and thirty persons, one-third of which were children. They-took with them ten wagons; an omnibus, carriage, forty horses, ten mules, and ten yoke of MILITARY NIGGER-CATCHING AT Paducan, Ky. Dec 30, 1861.

I wish to submit to you the following facts:
Three Licutenants of the dist regiment Illinois,

Among these were three men released from the county jain, into which place the jailer adnited as. It was a new and very strong stone building, very dirty, loathsome, foul, dark and damp. On siking the men why they were put in juil, one repiled "That he tried to attain his wife. The crime of the rest was stating themselve. Of course they were released. Mr. Jailer begged hard for his juil frees, but he knew but little of the jay-hawker's principles to make such an absurd application. Everybedy enters into this continuand business with hearty seal, not because they are fighting men and in carnest about it. A chilizen of the town named Gratch, has for some time past, been at the head of a band of thieves, who plundered indiscriminately to a great extest, under the precione of being Union men. Thesday night he was in the neighborhood and committed several robberies. He owned a cottage in town, and on Wednesday this was burn by order. Ool. The pageant will soon be over, and early next week Congress will be required to look the situation of things squarely in the face. It is fortunate that the members allowed themand conscience, and too many, unfortunately, have been bereft, during the past thirty days, of the fraction which Providence assigned them. I trust these are the darkest days that our country will ever have to pass. Whether they be or not, depends wholly on the cour-form has been accomplished during the inter-mission. Senator Grimes of Iowa, Chairman of mission. Senator Grimes of Iowa, Chairman of the Committee on the District of Columbia, having procured authority from Secretary Cameron to effect a general Jall delivery, proceeded to that institution yesterday is company with Provost Marshal Porter. I was invited to witness the operation. Rumors have been afloat, describing great improvements in the jail since the various exposures were made at the beginning of the present session of Congress. It required but a glance to satisfy me that such was not the case. The very first person we met there was a free colored boy, eigliteen or twenty years old, named John H. Waters, who had been confined thirteen mounts one four days without any charge againsthim, on suspicion of being a factive slave. Another candidate, a white man named William Brall, sick and emaciated, had been detained six weeks after being discharged by the grand jury—be having committed no crime whetever. The toor man was hardly able to William Brail, sick and emaciated, had been detained six weeks after being discharged by the grand jury—be having comainted no erime whatever. The poor man was hardly able to articulate. He said he had been in jail four months, and had never been able to learn what was the charge against him. Referring to the commitment -book of the jail, we found opposite his aname the entry "Discharged by order of the Grand Jury." Yet here the man was suffering on as though he had committed murder or grand larceny. In the negro quarters were two slaves of one Miner, a Virginian, and a Captain in the rebel army, boarding at the Government expense; also a slave of one Maryott, of Ann Arundel county, Maryiand, who had been himself arrested and confined in the jail for keeping a rebel rendexvous and recruiting station; also a free colored man from Pennsylvania, who was attached to one of the regiments from that State, and who had committed no crime and was charged with none; also a colored of the fell fin the unwholesome den for safe noisance in force.

A party of rebel guerrillas ingaded Linn county, Kansas, near the line, butchering an old man of 45 years old, and taking a quantity of stock. Major Williams, of the 3d regiment, onsented to receive as pay or hire therefor, mms varying from one hundred and thirty to wenty dollars each. In one case, the negroes two of them) were decoyed from the camp linois side, and there delivered to their master. As was afterward learned, the owner took them immediately and sold them to the far South.

It would seein incredible that officers in the U. S. army would thus prostitute themselves to the level of sizes traders, but it is sadly true. I fear this evil is not confined to our regiment, but that, it prevails more or less in other regi-ments and at other roost.

will introduce a bill to empty the fall of all the rest who are not under indictional or who shall not be indicted by the Grand Jury at its present sitting, and to put a stop to the venerable practice of holding persons in fall three months without indictiment. According to the present usage, it is customary for the grand jury to incubste only a portion of the cases before them at each quarterly session, leaving the remainder to pine away without examination or trial till the sext term of court. The bill will undoubtedly pass, and if so, it will reduce the number of occupants of the jail is twenty or thirty, or about the number who can be supplied with tolerable air and elboy room. So you see the world does move. By inquiry at the proper quarter I learn that the charges brought's against Quartermaster. By inquiry at the proper quarter I tears that the charges brought ragainst Quartermaster General Wood, of Illinois, by one of voirconteniporaries, implying that he has disobeyed or contravened the orders of the War Department, by continuing to exercise his functions after regular United States officials had been detailed to perform them, are false. Gov. Wood, in this matter; is entitled to tachanks of every honest man in the State. After the military authorities had resolves to fortify the frontiers of Canada, Genera Williams visited in person some of the point that would need defence in the event of war He traveled as far as Collingwood, or Georgian Bay, and there the construction of two batteries, to be mounted with Armstrong guns, was immediately commenced. Forts are also to be erected at Ports Dalhousje and Colborne. At Toronto extensive batteries have been commenced. A battery of ten 60-pounder guns and one 'Armstrong will, when finished, command the harbor. Another will command the Great Western and Northern Railroads. Batteries, each to mount 56 guns, are also to be erected along the banks of the lake for the further protection of the harbor of Toronto. Kingston is already defended by a fortress that, next to the one at Quebec, is probably the strongest in America. Of the claudel of Quebec we have on more than one occasion given a minute description.

Every American traveler is familiar with it, and few are disposed to question its impregnability as a fortress. These defensive works, as well as those opposite Kingston, are kept in constant repair, and require no unusual attention at the present time. Montrea, the commercial capital of the Provinces, seems to the tory place undefended. There are betteries on St. Hein's Island, opposite the dity, and it is probable that they will be placed in a condition of the rough effected. The Southern Delliahs—Misses
[Army Correspondence Tray Times.]
On a farm nearly at the border of the al line live the Misses Scott, who it will pation.) The soldiers are easily emissiple anything that wears petitions; females be rarities in the neighborhood of camps. it probably would not be the case that Misses Scott, with their known procliviare furnished with passes to go to and it Washington, frequently, conveying to rebels whe no doubt visit them, such info rebels whe no doubt visit them, such informa-tion as they are able to gather. But traitory are treated with marked consideration, Farmer Dulin, by whose hypocrisy and base-ness, undoubtedly. Captain Laning and his men were surrendered to a party of confede-rate cavalry, "still lives" at the scene of his villainy; though it might not be healthy for him to come in contact with any of Captain Laning's company, on scouting duty.

Justice to Col. George P. McLean.

The Philadelphia Pres says:

We regret that a despatch from Washington recently appeared in our telegraphic columns, stating that Col. George P. McLean, commanding the S8th Pennsylvania Regiment, at Alexandrin, Virginia, was about to be court-martialed, for disobedience of orders, etc. We are informed that there is no foundation for this report. He has conducted himselfin-the most exemplary mesner, and no higher proof could have been given of the fidelity with which he has discharged his duties, and the military knowledge he has displayed, than the fact that he was selected as acting Brigadier-General of his brigade during the sickness of its usual commander, General Montgomery.

The Frmals Prison-Studges Rivies.
The Washington correspondent of the Phiadelphis Press says:
The Wesnie Prison, as it is termed here, i under Lieutenant Sheidon, of the Starge Riffes, the infantry body-guard of General McClelian. It is Mrs. Greenhow's house, where in she is confined for farmishing intelligence to the enemy. Besides Mrs. Greenhow, there is also Miss Ella M. Poole, of Richmond, Vs. She was the correspondent of the Richmon Enquirer, and several other journuls. She i a very intelligent as well as besuiful youn lady, of strict Integrity, but a confirmed rebet. The Government offered her a parole of honor, but she refused to accept anything bu

Goino into Sorghum.—We learn of seve who are preparing to plant largely of Sorghi and Imphee next season. We believe it they will realize more per acre from it the from any other crop they could put in. Torde syrup can be refined so that it rawith the very best ever produced from regular sugar cane. It will sell. There we a great demand for it from all parts of ceunity. Every family will want it, and can be produced to much cheaper that it drive Southern syrups from the market, every man who wants to clear at least sith sand dollars from one crop next season phorty or fifty acres of Sorghum. It can done, providing the season is as invositional the sweetings, and it will be done, we predict Belvidere Standard, Sist.

Four of our police had their hands full in ushering the party into the Armory. When inside the cell, Burns fell upon a soldier named Martin who had already possession of the place and best him severely. When inside the prisoner's barthim sorning he was also severely handled by the same party. Justice Akin fined Burns five dollows for the assault and ten dollars for being an inmate of a disorderly house. The remainder of the crowd were mulcited in a fike sum, on the latter charge, with the exception of Donnovan and Bendigo, who gave special ball for a future hearing.
